Are there any beliefs or practices relevant to puberty, relationships and sex education that are important to your culture/faith that we might not be aware of?

All responses were 'No' or 'Not applicable'

Would you like support at home, on how to speak to your child about relationships and sex?

Almost all responses were 'No' or 'Not applicable'.

We had a few requests for further information/advice about how we will teach it in school and for some book recommendations to use with their child at home.

We are in the process of liaising with the RSHE Network and Jigsaw (our set scheme for PSHE) for parent support resources, which will be uploaded to the website.

All parents will be able to access the school teaching resources on a password protected area of our website. This will be released to parents after Easter – further information to follow.

Are there any changes or additions that you think should be made to the PSHE policy?

All responses were 'No' or 'Not applicable'

Is there anything we're not covering that you think we need to address, specific to our school context?

Most responses were 'No' or 'Not applicable'.

Some questions were raised around how we will teach consent. Please access PSHE on our website and you will be able to download and read Jigsaw's approach to safeguarding and consent (Crofton Junior School will only use the lessons in Year 3-6).

Please provide any additional feedback or questions you may have about the RSHE curriculum at Crofton Junior School.

'I feel this is a really important subject in which some children will not discuss at home so needs to be done in school.'

'Thank you for providing the children with a broad curriculum including RSHE.'

'Very happy with the RSHE curriculum and how it's been explained to parents and carers.'
